FLAVELLE HOUSE HONOURS BENEFACTOR

THE GENTLEMEN OF FLAVELLE HOUSE

CORDIALLY INVITE YOU TO ATTEND

A FORMAL DINNER

IN THE GREAT HALL OF ST. ANDREW'S COLLEGE

WEDNESDAY FEBRUARY 15th 1984

at 8:00 P.M.

TO CELEBRATE THE 126th BIRTHDAY OF OUR BENEFACTOR

SIR JOSEPH FLAVELLE, BART.

1858 - 1939

R.S.V.P.

The invitation pictured here marks a historic occasion for St. Andrew's College. Brainchild of recently appointed Housemaster of Flavelle House, Mr. Aubrey Foy, the dinner commemorates the birth of the donor of the House, Sir Joseph Flavelle.

All of the boys resident in the House attended, and the masters doing duty. Invited guests included several former Housemasters and two generations of Sir Joseph's descendants. Frank Flavelle McEachren, grandson of Sir Joseph and an Old Boy of St. Andrew's was the guest speaker. In very able fashion he brought out many interesting aspects of his grandfathers life and times. No less than ten of his descendants have been students at St. Andrew's and no doubt there will be many more in the years ahead.

Sir Joseph's financial contribution to St. Andrew's was not confined to Flavelle House. His almost unbelievable generosity included donation of funds to the building of the new school in Aurora in 1926, to erect Macdonald House in 1930 and the Chapel in 1931. He also covered the annual operating deficits of the school during the depression of the thirties. Nor was St. Andrew's the only beneficiary of his generosity. Toronto General Hospital plus many other institutions and organizations enjoyed his financial support.

Anyone interested in learning more about this remarkable man and his fascinating career can do so in the book "A Canadian Millionaire" by Michael Bliss, published by the Macmillan Company of Canada.

ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING PRESIDENT'S REPORT

I would now like to make a few remarks about the progress of your Association over the past year.

The two goals of the St. Andrew's College Association are:

- (a) to promote good fellowship among the members of the Association;
- (b) to provide financial support for the College through annual giving by the members to the St. Andrew's College Foundation.

During 1982-83 your Association made progress towards both of these goals. In the case of fellowship several events bring together Old Boys, Parents, and friends of the School; namely, the Golf tournament held in August; Homecoming which we are enjoying today; Old Boys soccer against the students; hockey against the students; and the Annual Dinner held each spring.

Mr. Chairman, I understand the Old Boys won against the School in hockey last winter but fared less well this fall in soccer.

Under the capable guidance of Ian Paisley, the dinner committee produced a splendid reception and evening at the Harbour Castle last May 6. The dinner honoured Dick Gibb who retired from active teaching after 37 years.

The evening resulted in a record attendance of about 425 and I am pleased to note the increased presence of fathers with boys who had just graduated and fathers with boys who are still at the School. This was also a record. Three reunions were organized including one for 50-year graduates.

In the past several years, your Association has reorganized its first goal and moved to improve communications with both the Old Boy and Parent groups. It has also done this with the student body through the awarding of plaques to members of championship teams, and arranging a Careers Night for boys in grades 11 to 13 when members of various professions and businesses come to the School and speak about their jobs. I would like to thank Tom Holloran, Ian Paisley and Bob Williams for their efforts in coordinating these evenings with Geoff Smith at the School.

I had the pleasure of addressing briefly the graduating class last spring on the objectives and workings of your Association.

On the second goal Mr. Chairman, I would like to say that real progress is being made to provide financial support to the School by the members of the Association.

Under the chairmanship of Liam O'Brian, the Annual Giving Committee plans a meeting at the School on November 5 for year representatives to review the parameters of the annual fall campaign. After a hiatus of 5 years when the Capital drive was on, the Annual Giving Campaign should pick up support in the months ahead. Here I would like to thank on your behalf in addition to Liam, Scott Marshall, Jim Good and Bill Andrews for devoting their time and energy to this important cause.

While I am in the financial sector, I would refer you to the Annual Statement of your Association. In terms of finances, this report sums up the progress that has been made over the past year. It has been excellent.

It also is a report card, if you will, on the thought and efforts of the numbers of your Council and here I wish to recognize Dolliver Frederick, Bill Gregg, Tom Holloran and Don Plaxton representing parents. Representing Old Boys, Michael Dunn for his ability to provide raffle prizes for the Annual Dinner; Andrew Kilpatrick, Bob Williams and Scott Marshall in a number of areas; Liam O'Brian and Ian Paisley I have already mentioned; and Philip Henderson and Jim Shapley. Gentlemen, again, thank you.

I have purposely saved two people to the last. Over the past few years, the Ladies Guild has staffed a booth at the Association Dinner selling school ties and other S.A.C. memorabilia. We understand that the Guild has been pleased with the results and we are glad to have them. Mrs. Barbara Gaskey on behalf of the Guild, has been a representative of the Council over this past year. I wish to thank her for her regular attendance and bringing us up to date on its many activities.

For the past several months, the Association has been in the throes of putting all its records on computer. Hopefully, this task should be finished before long and result in improved service to the Association's constituents.

Ever present and a key person in all the Association's operations is Jim Hamilton. Thank you, Jim, for your advice and help.

We are looking forward to another year of progress in 1984 and I hope we can all count on your support.

Thank you.

DAVID L. REA, PRESIDENT

OLD BOYS SOCCER

A seasoned mixture of Old Boys including veterans and rookies went into the annual Old Boys vs. First Soccer game last September. However, they couldn't quite keep pace with the Firsts who came away with a 3 - 1 victory.

Although better known for his hands (basketball) than his feet in his athletic career at St. Andrew's, Randy Kline '74 somehow scored the lone goal for the Old Boys. Gord Marshall scored for the Firsts to make the half time count tied at 1 - 1. In the second half the Firsts pulled away with goals by Tom Hussey and a second for Marshall. A stellar performance by Paul Kitchen '70 in goal for the Old Boys kept the score respectable.

Others playing for the Old Boys included Mike Duder '73, Jim Gray '74, Scott Silcox, John Middup and Rob Dobson of '77, Bill Cathers, John Mortimer, Sid Karalis and Tim Houlton of '79, Michael Bedard, Rich MacDonald and Ross Morrow of '81, and Peter Bedard of '83.

The 1984 game will probably be played Saturday, September 8. Anyone wishing to play should notify Jim Hamilton, Association Secretary at the School, telephone (416) 727-4002.

OLD BOYS BASKETBALL

Although only able to muster seven players, they must have been of good quality because the Old Boys came away with a 67 - 42 victory in the annual game played on February 4.

CORRECTION

In the article on Cadets appearing in the September 1983 issue of the Andean it was stated in error that Jamie Comfort was awarded the prize as Best Cadet. The recipient of the award was Mark Manze, son of Mr. & Mrs. A. Manze of Newmarket. Our apologies, Mark.

The annual Old Boys vs. First team hockey game turned out to be a spirited affair. Played on Saturday, January 21 at the Aurora Community Centre, the Firsts managed to hold the fired up Old Boys to a 6 - 6 tie.

SKINS FOR CADET CORPS

Recently it came to the attention of the Association that the leopard skin worn by the base drummer in the Cadet Corps Band was in sorry shape. The skin had a lot of worn patches and had been mended many times. Upon investigation it was learned that leopard skins are no longer available since this animal is an endangered species. However a puma skin was located in Toronto at a fur dealer on Spadina Avenue. Since the leopard is Dobson with two goals, Evers with a goal and two assists and Baun with two assists led the scoring for the old Boys. Bedard, Martin and Dalton got the other goals. Drew Plaxton was spectacular in goal while McMullen fulfilled his ambition of playing for the team at the age of 41!

Scoring for the Firsts were John Archibald and Todd Dow with two goals each, James Heffernan and Paul Keating.

Thanks are due once again to Brian Evers for supplying appropriate liquid refreshments and the Association for sandwiches following the game.

not a native Canadian animal anyway, and the puma is, it was considered a satisfactory substitute. A little negotiation with the fur dealer, David Goodman, resulted in a modest price being arrived at. It turned out that Mr. Goodman was a former member of Toronto Argonauts and had pleasant memories of their football camps at St. Andrew's a few years ago. He not only offered the puma skin at a modest price but threw in free a sheep skin dyed to resemble leopard, so now both the base drummer and the lead tenor drummer proudly wear the skins, courtesy of the S.A.C. Association.

DEBATING FLOURISHES

Rupert Ray, Head of Debating, reports that this has been a busy, fulfilling year for the program, one marked by several especially bright accomplishments. In the fall we sent four students to the National Public Speaking Tournament for Independent Schools held for the second year at St. John's Ravenscourt School in Winnipeg. It is the privilege of the four top speakers here to be invited to a similar tournament in the United Kingdom sponsored by the English Speaking Union. Shawn Pudsey of St. Andrew's came in third and will be travelling to England along with a student from British Columbia and two young ladies from the girls' schools of Toronto. In addition to speaking events they have a full program of cultural events laid on by their hosts over there.

In addition to all the social debates with other schools and the inter-clan debates at home, we attempt to put our best boys into Fulford League and Provincial competition. The League, of which Rupert Ray has been serving as President for the past two years, at present ties together twelve independent schools, and plans are now in place for three new member schools to take part next year. At the second of the three Fulford League tournaments for this year held at Appleby College we were represented by the senior team of Steve Pitel, Shawn Pudsey and Mark Chin. The team, led by Mark who is our student president, came in first on this day and their standing places us in the thick of competition as we prepare for the final tournament later this month.

The route to the Provincial or National championship of Canada is one whereby student candidates must first excel in Regional and then in District tournaments in order to move on to the next higher level. We belong to the Toronto Suburban district for first round competition. We are allowed to enter four students here from whom only two from the same school may go on to the second round in the greater region, comprising the best from Halton-Peel. Our top two debaters, in addition to George Leask and Hugh Scanlon who did well, were Clive Rowe and Richard White. They won the right to go through to the second level. Once again, as was the case the previous week in the Regional Final, Clive came first out of all debaters who took part. Consequently he has won a place on the Ontario team, and will be representing our province at the National Seminar to be held during the first week of May in Saskatchewan. This accomplishment brings a great deal of honour to S.A.C. and to Clive.

ON HUMANS

The chairman, Juno, having introduced the speaker in a few well-chosen words, the lecture proceeded as follows:

To an observant Airedale, life at St. Andrew's College affords many opportunities for the study of human nature. The entente which has prevailed for so many centuries between the canine and the human species, is one that bids fair to continue. (Some growling.) It is to be desired, however, in the interests of our race, that the alliance should be turned to greater advantage by us; so that not only may the great end and object of existence – grub – be successfully attained, but also that our superior mental and moral qualities – our Kultur, as the Dachshunds say – may not be corrupted by contact with what, in spite of many undoubted physical advantages, must be regarded as a "lesser breed." (Applause.)

An unkind accident of Nature, indeed, has bestowed upon this slow-footed, small-mouthed creature, man, an undoubted advantage in the possession of hands – a handicap which goes far to recompense him for a feeble pair of jaws, and an almost rudimentary sense of smell. We marvel indeed at the helplessness of a race which, amid a world of enemies, has to judge by deceitful appearances, instead of by the infallible test of scent. Their power of discrimination, their sense of proportion, are thus hopelessly at fault. How absurd it sounds, for example, when, to express the attractiveness of a locality you will hear them say: "What a beautiful view!" – which with them takes the place of: "There is a fine smell here." (Much laughter.)

However, thanks to the nature of their upper extremities, humans have obtained what may be called a strategic position as regards the control of Grub. By this means they gain access to the interior of Houses – those marvellous treasures of nature, stocked beyond belief with endless stores of eatables and other comforts, as well as, alas! with numerous instruments of torture such as chains, collars, washtubs and pianos, sadly familiar to you all. (Prolonged howling.)

Thanks to the same advantage, they have contrived to enforce upon our kind a bodily subjection, so galling to a dog of spirit – a subjection to which eloquent protest is vainly raised, I well know, by more than one among this gathering. (At this reference, the feelings of Rags were so affected, and expressed in such unparliamentary language, that the chairman was compelled to exert her authority. When

SWIMMERS WIN ISAA

1984 will always be remembered for two things – George Orwell and the return of the Saint Andrew's College First Swim Team – to the forefront of the ISAA swimming scene. After a drought of fourteen years our team captured the A1 Staple's Trophy, defeating the defending U.C.C. team.

St. Andrew's jumped into the lead after the first race of the meet narrowly missing the medley relay record established by the Saint Andrew's Team of 1983. The team held a comfortable edge of 22 points until three quarters of the way through the meet when Ridley began to gnaw away at the point spread. The outcome was not decided until the results of the final race had been computed. Hard work throughout the season and single minded determination saw many SAC swimmers establish personal best times at the championship meet. I would like to extend my congratulations to all members of the team for their devotion, ceaseless energy during training and sportsmanlike conduct exemplified throughout the season.

The future looks bright for swimming at SAC. The team will lose only two members through graduation, thus maintaining the essential nucleus needed to form a competitive squad for next year.

- John Walden.
(Editor's note: It is of interest that Coach John Walden '70 was a member of the championship team of that year).

S.A.C. REGAINS POLO TITLE

Late in March, St. Andrew's College captured the North American high school polo championship for the third time. Derek Sifton (Captain), Todd Phillips and local high school player, Todd Offen (brother of Andrean Dave Offen) won all their games in the "knock out" tournament at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, to win the U.S.P.A. interscholastic trophy which is symbolic of the title.

The tournament had teams entered from: Boston, Massachusetts; Culver, Indiana; Garrison, Maryland; Aurora, Ontario; New York, New York; Chicago, Illinois; Lawrenceville, New Jersey and Wayne, Pennsylvania.

In the draw, SAC played first, St. Lawrence College of New Jersey, to a win of 11 - 3. Then SAC played DuPage County School of Chicago, and won in sudden over time 8 - 7. This took the Andreans to the finals where they took on Culver Military Academy, who have owned the crown for the last 3 years. For most of the game, the SAC team were just behind the Culver team. In the last period, the score was tied. In the last 30 sec. of the game, Captain Derek Sifton drove the ball through the goal from centre field for the winning goal, to finish the game, and to win the tournament score 13 - 12.

All three team members play regularly with the Toronto Polo Club with other Andreans, Clifford and Michael Sifton, David Offen, David Boultsbee, Peter and David Calverley.

In the past, SAC teams have won the North American title in 1977 and in 1979. The 1977 team consisted of David Offen, Clifford and Michael Sifton. This marks the first time since 1928 that 3 members of the same family have won the trophy independently of each other.

comparative silence was restored, the lecture proceeded.)

The control of grub, I say, thus unfairly vested in the race of bipeds, has resulted in an alliance which, I grieve to observe, often leads to the appearance, and even the feeling, of servitude on our part. It is to warn my younger friends against an exaggeration of this feeling that I venture to address this intelligent audience. (Great tail-wagging.)

As you are all aware, it is my privilege, or my fate, to share the roof of a human who belongs to the variety called Headmaster. Unlike the inferior but allied race of Masters, headmasters are not gregarious, but prefer to live in comparative seclusion. This particular headmaster is an individual of no little authority in the world of mankind, and appears to be top-dog (as we would say) of the Kennel, or College, of St. Andrew's. You will understand the low opinion I have come to entertain of man's intelligence when I mention that this human, though possessed of somewhat imposing physique, lives in a condition of abject submission to the women-folk of his household, and in particular to one called Cook. This person is allowed to reign supreme in the choicest rooms in the house - the kitchen and pantry - and though she could at any moment be overpowered, and the larder sacked of its store of eatables, such an attempt has never, within my knowledge, been made by this so-called headmaster, who meekly submits to accepting what is doled out to him in limited quantities at certain fixed hours - an arrangement to which I myself am often obliged to accommodate myself, though not to the extent fondly imagined by my self-styled "mistress." (Laughter.)

FIRST HOCKEY 1984

The 1983-84 season was a bit-sweet one for the First Hockey Saints. Their hopes of repeating as ISAA champs were shattered when they lost the first two games of the season, both at home, to Lakefield and Nichols. As it was, a fore-shortened season deposited the Saints in third place behind the two teams mentioned, with an 8-3-1 record.

In tournament play, the team had perhaps their best season in many years and yet were unable to bring home any gold. At the highly competitive Milton-Nobles tournament in Boston, the Saints lost only one game, but had to settle for a bronze medal. Also during the Christmas break, at the T.C.S. International Tournament, First Hockey ran headlong into the muscle and skill of top U.S. schools like Kent and Culver Military Academy, and needed an exciting overtime win over U.C.C. to secure another bronze.

During the February mid-term break, the team travelled for the first time to the Northwood Tournament in Lake Placid. Again the competition was excellent and the big Olympic ice required plenty of adjustment. Perhaps it was a little too bewildering as the Saints lost in the final to a Junior B team from Montreal - Sud-Ouest. A full day of skiing at Whiteface Mountain served to lessen the pain of that defeat.

A novelty of this season was the St. Andrew's Lloyd C. MacPherson Tournament. A smattering of ISAA teams joined the Hounds of Notre Dame from Saskatchewan, the New Hampton Huskies from New Hampshire, the Moncton Purple Knights and our own team in an experiment - the school had never before hosted a tournament of this kind.

In a very proud moment for our school, a near capacity crowd turned up at the Aurora Community Centre to witness the polished pageantry of the S.A.C. Pipes and Drums in the opening ceremonies, followed by a thrilling hockey classic. It was our Saints versus the legendary Hounds of Notre Dame - a rekindling of a year old rivalry which began when First Hockey defeated the Hounds 2 - 1 in the overtime final at their tournament in Saskatchewan. The Saints burst out of the starting gate scoring 3 goals in rapid succession before the game was 5 minutes old. However, the hysteria gradually gave way to concern as the Hounds fought their way back to tie the score at 4 by the end of regulation time. As if no other ending was possible, Mark Murphy scored the overtime winner for the Saints on a breakaway with just over a minute left to play. In a collective, euphoric, sigh of relief, 400 Andreans poured out on the ice to congratulate the players and share in this special moment. However, the gold proved to be just as elusive on the home ice as the Saints lost in a fiercely contested final to a very strong New Hampton team.

To round out the season in the ISAA, the Saints gave greater credence (a 10-4 drubbing of the previously undefeated Lakefield team in the return game was the first indication) to the notion that the best team had not finished first, by outclassing Nichols (6-1) and U.C.C. (8-3) to win the ISAA tournament at Lakefield in March.

For the second straight season First Hockey were unable to live up to their billing at the OFSAA Provincial finals, where S.A.C. represented the GBSSA region. A loss in their very first game to eventual champion, Monarch Park, virtually eliminated the Saints from contention.

To suggest that there was anything bitter about our season is merely making reference to what seemed like so much unfulfilled promise. The loss of 9 graduating players, the like of which included Tom Hussey to Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and John Archibald to Michigan Tech, leaves quite a hole to be filled for the coming season. However with good potential on the Second and Under 16 teams, both of which had excellent seasons, the future looks bright.

Now, I put it to you, my friends, can you imagine such a state of things being tolerated in our world? Can you conceive the possibility of an Airedale, or even a Fox-terrier, submitting to the ignominy of subjection, say, to a Dachshund or a Pom? (No, no! and yowls of derision.)

Similar signs of unaccountable feebleness of spirit meet us at every turn. Thus the young of the species – as can be observed here at any time – yield a tame submission to the commands of their frequently insignificant-looking, so-called “masters”. True, a close approach to canine standards of intelligence, in the matter of grub especially, frequently arouses sympathetic hopes as to the possibilities of the human Boy. Other wholesome effects of our presence and example may here be noted. Often, when passing the place called the Assembly Hall, I have been moved to sympathetic response by the kennel-like sounds proceeding from its interior. Again, I need not remind you of the unconscious tribute paid to us by St. Andrew's boys when they give that very creditable imitation of barking, known as College yells. But as for their ideas of sport! It is indeed lamentable to observe the misguided zeal with which these husky youths, for hours at a time, will worry and maul one another for the possession of an empty leather bag – a thing of little interest to either taste or smell, as I have repeatedly verified. Often it has aroused my wonder, that the boy who secures possession of the coveted object has it in his power to escape with his booty into the surrounding country, and so decide the contest. But this obvious proceeding never seems to occur to one of them, and though I have myself frequently volunteered, by personal example, to suggest such a course, my efforts, far from meeting with appreciation, have been received with contumely. (Shame!)

Equally tragic has been the failure of my efforts to arouse in my “master” the dormant instinct of the chase. At an earlier period of my career, often, when passing near a herd of cattle or sheep – knowing that the flesh of these animals is as much appreciated by man as it is with us – (great applause) – I would endeavour, by giving him a lead, to awaken some dim sense of his opportunities. But here I must draw a veil over the results which attended my well-meant efforts. They are of too painful a character. (Here the lecturer was visibly affected, and was for some minutes unable to proceed. Resuming, he said:)

Among the many futile and meaningless activities of this strange race, I may refer to the absurd and offensive practice known as smoking. The object of this pursuit seems to be the destruction (doubtless owing to its offensive smell) of a substance called tobacco, or, more descriptively, the Weed. Instead, however, of simply throwing this weed into the fire, or burying it, or eating it, or otherwise disposing of it once for all, as the least intelligent of our kind would do in short order, it is consumed solemnly in minute quantities at a time, this labour forming, in fact, the chief activity of masters. Boys, we must acknowledge, are strongly averse to it; the few who endeavour to curry favour with the masters by smoking being driven by their fellows to remote and desolate places to conceal their shame. Some, victims to a foolish sense of duty, but unable to tolerate the obnoxious fumes, mitigate the horror of the ordeal and conceal their sufferings by the friendly help of darkness, and an open window. (Sensation.)

Another point of superiority which distinguishes the boy from his degenerate elders and calls for special sympathy from us, is the fidelity which, in spite of persecution from his masters, he clings to the use of Dog-Latin, — a language which appears to have been at one time prevalent among mankind. Nor is it without significance that the young of the British species love to describe themselves as "Boys of the Bulldog Breed." But here again we Airedales stand aghast at the pig-headed stupidity shown in their selection of such a bow-legged, undershot, snub-nosed, stunted, short-winded, crooked-tail variety of our race as —

(At this point, loud protest was raised by a small Boston Bull which had found its way into the audience. The meeting rose as one dog to eject the intruder, chairman and lecturer joining the chase. Owing to the necessity of going to press, our reporter's notes have been unfortunately left uncompleted. — ED.)
